6. 'The World in Our Hands'

By: Turvey Pre-School

Our children have shown a keen interest in 'minibeasts' this term. They have been fascinated by how they move, what they look like and how they are different. They have been learning how to be gentle and caring with them and to return the insects back to their environment when they have finished looking at them. This has begun to evolve into how we need to look after all living creatures, plants and our environment; the children are being encouraged to think about how we can look after our planet.

Turvey Pre-school offers a caring, nurturing, safe and stimulating environment to the children who attend, opening up a world of opportunities to them. Children are enabled to learn and develop as individuals with learning through play as our focus.

We are proud to help children start on their journey in education and to help them get ready for the next step of starting school.
